CONGRATULATIONS ARE IN ORDER

Davis Wright Tremaine celebrates our friend and colleague, Danielle Kim, for being recognized in the Lawyers of Color's Annual Hot List!

Lawyers of Color released our first Hot List in 2013. Since then, it has been a tremendous joy to recognize junior- and mid-level attorneys who exemplify integrity, high achievement, leadership, and a passion for diversity.

Nick Austin, our Young Lawyer of the Year and the recipient of our inaugural Phoenix Award, was among our first group of honorees. Lawyers of Color and Nick have grown up together. Judging by Nick's stellar career, the legal profession is in capable hands. Lawyers of Color looks forward to celebrating their accomplishments in our second decade.

Board Diversity Apprenticeship Project (BDAP)	Provide nonprofit training workshops to lawyers of color then match them with nonprofit boards.
Diversity Equity & Inclusion (DEI) Fellowships	Provide DEI training, mentors, and a certificate program to lawyers of color to prepare them to be DEI professionals.
Justice Reporter Fellows	Train and fund social justice reporters to write stories at the intersection of law and justice.

Nicholas “Nick” Austin is Lawyers of Color’s Young Attorney of the Year and the recipient of our inaugural Phoenix Award, which announces his ascension from the Hot List due to his tremendous career accomplishments and continued work in the service of diversity.

Nicholas “Nick” Austin has a blazing career. He currently serves as principal corporate counsel at Microsoft, Inc. where he focuses on cloud technology transactions and other strategic initiatives. Nick previously worked at Wells Fargo Bank as vice president and senior counsel in the Mergers & Acquisitions (M&A), Venture Capital (VC) and Strategic Transactions Group. While at Wells Fargo, Nick served as a diversity leader for the bank. Prior to Wells Fargo, Nick worked as M&A and VC Counsel at Caterpillar, where he advised senior company executives on legal matters pertaining to M&A and Caterpillar’s VC and joint venture projects and as an associate at Foley & Lardner, LLP, Nick handled M&A and business transactions.

Nick works tirelessly to advance diversity in the legal profession. In the last year, he has lent his insight to several organizations and programs, including being a panelist at “Promoting Women and Black Americans in Big and Corporate Law” sponsored by the Greater Washington Area Chapter, Women Lawyers Division, National Bar Association (GWAC) and the National HBCU Pre-Law Summit & Law Expo.

In addition to being named to the Hot List numerous times, Nick was named Lawyer of the Year by Washington Bar Association Young Lawyers Division in 2015 and selected for the On The Rise program by the American Bar Association, which also selected him to participate in the ABA’s Men of Color Project, which exists to build leaders in the law field, facilitate intergenerational support, and encourage community service and civic engagement amongst men of color in law.

Nick currently serves as the current treasurer of the National Bar Association and chair of the Small Business Section of the National Bar Association. He is also a member of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc.

Praise for Austin

It is a privilege to join with Lawyers of Color to congratulate and thank Nick Austin, Esq. on being recognized as the Young Attorney of the Year. Nick is blazing a trail in corporate law that is expanding the pipeline of opportunities for today's and future generations of BIPOC attorneys. Keep rising and representing, Nick! —Rawle Andrews Jr., Esq., president, Bar Association of the District of Columbia

Nick's genuine sense of social responsibility to the Black community and strong commitment to the next generation of Black lawyers are undeniable. Throughout the years, anytime I have called on him to speak or mentor, he is there. His only questions are where and when. No excuses. He has remained grounded and grateful- always going above and beyond to serve - providing advice and encouragement to those who hope to be where he is someday. He has an abundance mindset and wants to see others who look like us succeed. Nick is incredibly deserving of this special honor and recognition. I am proud to call him both colleague and friend." —Evangeline M. Mitchell, Esq., Ed.M., Founder, National HBCU Pre-Law Summit and National Black Pre-Law Conference, Cambridge, Massachusetts

It is not often that one sees a young attorney who represents the future. However, in just a few years in private practice, as in-house counsel and as a leader of the Bar, Nick Austin's star shines brightly. He is already an inspiring servant leader. There are no limits for Nick." —Benjamin F. Wilson, retired Chairman, Beveridge & Diamond, P.C.

Nick is committed to the legal profession but also to ensuring community impact. He strives for excellence in all he does and also diligently mentors those entering the profession." —Kendra Brown, Vice President, Policy, Mastercard
