Munsch Hardt Recognized as Most Improved Law Firm by Overall Composite Score by Dallas Diversity Task Force

11/14/2007

Munsch Hardt Kopf & Harr, P.C., a Texas-based commercial law firm with offices in Dallas, Houston and Austin, was recently recognized as the "most improved law firm by overall composite score" by the 2007 Dallas Diversity Task Force Report. The Report presents a snapshot of the racial and ethnic diversity of lawyers practicing at the largest 20 law firms in Dallas County. Formed at the suggestion of the Dallas Hispanic Bar Association, the Task Force is comprised of representatives for the Dallas Asian American Bar Association, Dallas Hispanic Bar Association and J.L. Turner Legal Association (the African American Bar Association of Dallas County).

"We understand that our commitment to diversity is essential in order to maintain excellence and we celebrate that we were named the "most improved law firm by overall composite score" by the 2007 Dallas Diversity Task Force Report," said Glenn Callison, CEO of Munsch Hardt. "Munsch Hardt's current focus is to further enhance the diversity within our firm through recruitment and retention of our attorneys and staff. We feel that the diverse talent and experience drawn from our attorneys ultimately helps us to provide better service to our clients."

Munsch Hardt has been committed to diversity for a number of years, and established a Diversity Committee in 2006 to reflect its dedication to improved diversity. The firm's Diversity Committee provides a forum for identifying and developing focused initiatives and programs. "I'm pleased that our efforts to enhance diversity have yielded better results as reflected in the recent Task Force Report," commented Callison. "Our goal has been directed toward achieving tangible improvements, rather than less substantive activities that might be construed as window dressing."
