Law360

Law360 featured Craig Harris in an article about his decision to join Munsch Hardt's litigation and labor and employment practice groups in Dallas. Harris told that publication that he will work on general commercial litigation cases and will expand his focus on the oil and gas industry, in addition to the restaurant and hospitality industries.

"I was convinced that the firm is happy with its identity, understands its identity and has no aspirations to change its identity as a Texas firm," Harris said.
