Kim Bueno of Scott Douglass & McConnico LLP, Jay Ong of Munsch Hardt Kopf & Harr P.C. and Adam Schramek of Norton Rose Fulbright have been selected to a national list of notable attorneys.

Bueno is a partner at Scott Douglass & McConnico with a focus on business law, as well as a penchant for running ultramarathons. Ong is managing shareholder in Austin for Munsch Hardt and a bankruptcy expert. Schramek is a partner at Norton Rose Fulbright and president of the Austin Bar Association.

The Business Journals' Influencers: Law spotlights attorneys who are driving business for their employers, and for their clients, in cities across the country. The 100 individuals identified here serve both large, nationally known ventures and smaller, locally focused entities. Some of their names, and their companies' names, might be familiar to you; others you might be seeing for the first time.

These executives were identified in conjunction with editors and staff writers across The Business Journals' network of more than 40 publications, including Austin Business Journal. Each has been featured as part of The Business Journals' continuing coverage of the newsmakers in those cities.
