

Speech

Construction Supervision Fundamentals

07.07.20

AGC Houston

Houston Shareholder Mason Hester is a presenter for the Associated General Contractors' Construction Supervision Fundamentals class beginning on July 7th, 2020. The class, which is taught online using Zoom Meetings, is a joint venture between AGC Houston, AGC of DC and AGC Florida East Coast Chapters. This course is the first step in the path to develop construction supervisors and allows the building trades and craft workers to experience construction supervision techniques first hand and create a professional development plan to achieve personal career goals. The 8-day class will have sessions meet every Tuesday and Thursday for the month of July.

Course Description: This 25-hour instructor led course consists of nine highly interactive classroom sessions that focus on the knowledge and skills every supervisor needs to be an efficient manager of people, time, equipment and materials. This course includes case studies, group activities, and provides jobsite exercises for skill development. Learners will partner with company sponsors to apply the skills learned in the course, evaluate progress, and create a path to advance the student's career.

To learn more about the course, click here.

Primary Contacts

Mason Hester

Houston
713.222.4036
mhester@munsch.com

Related Practices

Litigation
Construction Litigation

Related Industries

Construction