International Who's Who of Asset Recovery Lawyers 2012 recently added Dennis L. Roossien, Jr, Shareholder as a member to their organization.

Since 1996 Who's Who Legal has identified the foremost legal practitioners in 32 areas of business law. We feature over 10,000 of the world's leading private practice lawyers in over 100 countries and pride ourselves on the integrity and authority of our findings. It is impossible to buy entry into this publication.

Dennis Roossien, a shareholder at Munsch Hardt Kopf & Harr PC, is experienced in handling federal and state court litigation, both at the trial court and appellate level. He has also appeared in bankruptcy courts, handled arbitrations, participated in administrative proceedings and brought foreign actions. The first edition of The International Who's Who of Asset Recovery Lawyers reflects the rising demand for lawyers offering a service tailored to tracing and recovering lost, misappropriated or stolen assets.

"The lawyers in this publication will be able to assist clients with disclosure, freezing and seizure orders and recovery claims. Many of these lawyers will be able to assist with civil and sometimes criminal actions, advising their clients on the best route to take. An international network is often essential to the successful tracing and recovery of assets and this publication can be used by those looking to identify the leading specialists in different jurisdictions," said the International Who's Who of Asset Recovery Lawyers Organization.

Nominees for International Who's Who of Asset Recovery Lawyers have been selected based upon comprehensive, independent survey work with both general counsel and private practice lawyers worldwide. Only specialists who have met independent international research criteria are listed.
