12.27.10

Munsch Hardt has been named among the Largest North Texas Corporate Philanthropists in 2010. According to the Dallas Business Journal, who authors the list each annum, "We have chosen to feature companies where the executives and employees are actively involved in giving back — companies that not only make monetary donations, but where philanthropy is a part of the every day culture. We found that the most involved companies are strongly led by example, with top executives investing their personal time and energy into giving back. Through their example and encouragement, these companies and their employees roll up their sleeves and work to make a difference in the lives of others. Its enough to inspire all of us to do just a little bit more."

"The needs of our community are growing and companies such as Munsch Hardt are responding," says Glenn B. Callison, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. "Munsch Hardt considers community support as well as pro bono initiatives an integral part of our professional responsibilities. We encourage every attorney at the firm to participate in meaningful organizations and activities that build our neighborhoods and improve the lives of others. Our attorneys are actively involved in helping advance the goals of a wide spectrum of professional and charitable organizations and we are honored to be one of those nominated."
