Experience

Personal Injury Defense

Represented a landlord who had been sued by two employees of a former tenant who were claiming that they had suffered severe and permanent disabilities due to mold and other contaminants present in the building. On summary judgment, the trial court agreed that under the lease and premises liability law, the landlord's responsibilities did not extend to the parts of the building that the plaintiffs were claiming made them sick.

Environmental Litigation

Represented a large waste disposal company in an OSHA compliance and casualty investigation.

Personal Injury Defense

Represented a temporary laborer at a commercial facility in a successful summary judgment in a matter involving amputation and permanent disability.

Employment Litigation

Successfully defended an employer's request for a temporary injunction against a former employee who sought to prevent employee from contacting their former and current customers under the Texas Uniform Trade Secrets Act.

Insurance Litigation

Retained to enforce judgment against indemnitor for failure to reimburse insurance carrier for settlement costs, resulting in a verdict in excess of $1 MM.

Personal Injury Defense

Represented the second largest provider of non-hazardous solid waste collection, transfer, disposal and recycling in litigation arising from a traffic accident involving two commercial vehicles. Munsch Hardt successfully obtained a defense verdict for our client.
